Hard Eyes Teachers' Quarters

County housing at the new Central School posed the perplexing problem for the Bay County School Board at its meeting last Friday. During which teachers' quarters were elected along with three to serve in the 1959-60 school year.

Board finally withheld a decision on assigning quarters, but came up with a general acceptable solution after a long study.

Presently there are quarters for three families on the North side of the school grounds and the question of the board was, in addition to Principal R. A. Webb, to occupy them. Davis, vocational agriculture teacher, and James Johnson, are quartered there now. County School Superintendent Brelana concurred with the facility proposals, adding recommendation that both vocational agriculture teachers here, Truette S. P. Powell, inclined to believe these quarters might serve the county by living at opposite ends of the school so they could be close to the farmers. He also took the question of varying responsibilities for handling of the school in this field.

He took note of the difficulty in providing housing in the heavily populated area where a new school is being erected. He expressed hope that some buildings could be converted to apartments and accommodate families. While he suggested that one vocational agriculture teacher and one coach reside at the school, he acknowledged assignment of housing the responsibility of the

Safety Group Has Recommendations For U.S. 90 Traffic

Six specific recommendations to improve traffic control along U.S. 90 in Hancock County were presented to the executive director of the Mississippi Safety Council by a newly formed Bay St. Louis Safety Committee at a luncheon meeting Monday at the Hotel Reed.

The committee called for:

1. A four-way traffic light with turn on arrow signals at North Beach Avenue and caution blinkers east and west of the light;
2. A traffic light at Main Street;
3. Upon completion of the new school a traffic light at Dunbar Avenue;
4. A blinker light at Kiln Road intersection, amber on U. S. 90 and red on Kiln Road;
5. Change in the lighting, possibly by rearrangement, at the truck weighing station; and
6. Improvement of the shoulders all along the highway.

Guests at the meeting were the county's two regularly assigned members of the Mississippi Highway Patrol, Fred Curet and William P. Kenny.

Freeman L. Evans, the safety council executive, assured the committee his organization will look into the problems and do what it can to help the local group. Within the next few weeks, he said, he expects to have this area inspected by the director of traffic safety for the National Safety Council.

Advising the committee that the most effective method of getting something done was "public opinion," he explained the program of the Mississippi Safety Council, including its work in education, engineering and enforcement.

Specific projects he cited were an effective motor vehicle inspection law; non-tickable tickets and more patrolmen.

Mississippi highway patrolmen are very good, he declared, but there "just aren't enough of them."

To the objection from some committee members on what they considered was excessive use of radar, Evans said his organization considered radar definitely beneficial "when used in local traffic situations."

The Rev. Charles R. Johnson, committee chairman, emphasized to Evans that Hancock County has a seasonal and weekend traffic problem peculiar to resort areas. He said he thought this increase in traffic in the summer and particularly on Friday and Saturday evenings made the engineering tests conducted during Monday through Friday afternoon periods misleading and incomplete.

Johnson also pointed to Mississippi's accident record in 1958 of 567 killed, 6,480 injured and nearly $72,000,000 in economic loss.

During 1958, U. S. 90 in Hancock County was the location of four fatal accidents in which seven persons were killed, and in the last six years 167 accidents with one fatality have occurred on U. S. 90 within the city limits of Bay St. Louis, he observed.

Serving on the committee with Johnson are Powell Glass Jr., R. L. Hamilton, Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, K. W. Pepperdene, F. Quint, D. M. Russell Jr., Mayor John Scaife and H. M. Wise.

7 Cars Pile Up In U.S. 90 Mishap

A seven-car pile up resulted in no injuries and relatively minor car damages when a Negro, Mobile, Ala., woman stopped at 11 a.m. Saturday, on U. S. 90 to let a car enter the highway from Waveland Avenue.

Effie Goode, Negro, was charged by Deputy Sheriff Gerald Favre, investigating officer, with failure to yield the right of way. She forfeited bond by failing to appear before Justice of the Peace Nolan S. Ladner for a hearing Monday.

She was driving west on U.S. 90 in a 1958 Cadillac. Colliding with the rear was a 1957 Ford of Jack Staples, New Orleans. Behind Staples in the tangle were Lorenzo Krohn of Biloxi, driving a 1957 Chevrolet; Cecil B. Creel of Biloxi, driving a 1957 Ford, and Joseph Reed of Keosauqua, driving a Buick.

Two other cars allegedly involved in the accident had left by the time he arrived, Favre said.

School Fund Drive Short

The $200,000 fund drive for a new school for Our Lady of the Gulf parish ended $42,000 short of its goal at the final formal report meeting Wednesday night, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Martin Moloney, pastor, announced today.

Contributions and pledges received since the canvass opened two weeks ago now total $157,891, he said, with a number of pledge cards yet to be turned in.

The canvass of parish families not yet reached will continue, he said. Start of construction on the new 16-classroom school is dependent on successful completion of the money-raising campaign, he noted, and the parish hopes to have it ready for occupancy at the start of the 1960 fall term.

NEW VENTURE—Promoters of a proposed coastal annual magazine to carry a description of area industry with an index guide to towns, who spoke at Wednesday night's dinner meeting of Coast Chamber of Commerce in Hotel Reed, are, from left, Mrs. Wayne Ducomb and Mrs. Frank Kiefer, both of Bay St. Louis. Henry W. Osinich, president, of Bay St. Louis, is at right. Guests traveled earlier to the Darwood on the Jourdan home of Dr. Emmett Lee Irwin for refreshments and a tour of the gardens.

Chamber Told of Plans Coastal Business Magazine

A magazine for promotion of Gulf Coast business and travel assets is scheduled for first publication in October, said Mrs. Frank Kiefer, who with Mrs. Wayne Ducomb is a partner in the venture, which they hope to expand to a statewide basis.

Both Bay St. Louis women appeared at a dinner meeting Wednesday night in Hotel Reed of Coast Council of Chambers of Commerce.

Name of the magazine has been registered in Washington as The Mississippi Monitor. The first issue will be called The Mississippi Coast Monitor. However, if the two partners are successful in expanding the magazine's scope, each issue will be devoted by the district which it represents.

A business guide and index for travelers will be featured in the approximately 80-page, annual magazine, Mrs. Kiefer said. She will be in charge of business and advertising and Mrs. Ducomb will supervise art work and layout.

$250,000 Damage Suit on Trial

Trial of a $250,000 damages case involving a death allegedly caused by injuries received in an automobile accident in 1957, is occupying today's session of the second week of the March term of Circuit Court, before Judge Leslie B. Grant.

Mrs. Juanita Henry Dorsett, executrix of the estate and widow of John B. Dorsett, the deceased, is suing Howard Van Lines, she charges that her husband was traveling east on U.S. 90 near the weighing scales on a Howland Van truck came on to the highway, immediately before the collision, Dorsett died in August, 1958 at Cameron, Tex.

The defendant pleads that negligence of the deceased caused the accident and that death was not due to injuries suffered in it.

Three $100,000 damage suits involving a meeting last year of Hancock County Hospital Board were set for trial March 26. In two of the suits A. Frank Selph and Norton Haas are charging T. T. Reboul with slander. Samuel Ballard, former Bay St. Louis newspaperman, is charged with libel in the third suit.

Willie Necaise was sentenced to one year in county jail and fined $1,000 on a manslaughter conviction Monday.

James Ellis and Melvin Joe Johnston, also tried Monday, got suspended three-year sentences to the state penitentiary when they pleaded guilty to grand larceny.

Tennessee Gas Building Station

Construction got under way last week on a 40-acre tract in the East Ansley community of a booster station for Tennessee Gas Transmission Corporation's pipeline from Louisiana offshore drilling locations which connects with the main line at Portland, Tenn.

D. E. Lyons, engineer in charge of the project for the Houston, Tex., firm, estimated the station will amount to an investment of about $1 million when completed.

Grading of the site now is in progress by Russell Mitchell, Logtown contractor. When that is finished, construction of the building will begin and the machinery necessary for the operation will be moved in. Lyons said he expected the station will be ready for use in the late summer.

Lyons also disclosed that the company is studying the feasibility of erecting homes somewhere in Hancock County to house the six families who will be sent here to operate the station. He indicated that this is unlikely to be done on the Ansley property.

The secondary line which this booster station will serve pipes gas from the offshore drilling locations below the Mississippi River mouth to Portland where it ties in with the main line serving New York, Connecticut and other places in the East. South of here a pumping station is located at Leeville, La., with the next one north at Heidelberg.

The land for the station was purchased last year from the Gex family who reserved the mineral rights. It is described as being on the southeast corner of the southeast quarter of Section 21, Township 9.

Expansion Job Is Under Way At Legion Home

Extensive remodeling and expansion is under way at the American Legion home on Beach Boulevard to meet needs of the growing post membership which now totals 399, according to John D. Rutherford Jr., chairman of the building committee. The project is expected to be ready for the next post meeting on April 9.

A cement block structure is being constructed around the bottom of the new auditorium with installation of rest rooms, a new kitchen and storage quarters for the Legion, its auxiliary and Boy Scout troops. A new clubroom is being built for the membership only.

In the upstairs of the original building, sliding windows are being removed from the auditorium and replaced with jalousies. Another meeting room is being finished under the auditorium to serve for meetings of the scouts and various civic organizations.

The entire building, erected in 1957, is being repainted and the beach bulldozed in preparation for summer.

The project was approved by the legion last Thursday. Serving with Rutherford on the building committee are Al Veeter, Dr. Laurent Dickson, Lucien Kidd, Joe Benvenuti, Roger Reintke, Andy Becker, Frank Taconi, Commander Warren Buehler and adjutant Russell Elliott.

Post membership is now at its highest ever. Previous record was 352.

McCarty First Candidate For School Superintendent

First candidate filed for County Superintendent of Education is K. G. McCarty, who was defeated by E. E. Brelana in a tightly contested race four years ago and probably will face Brelana again in the Aug. 4 Democratic primary election.

Three bids for the board of supervisors have been filed by Archie McQueen, district 2 of Picayune, Ares J. Hoda Sr., District 3 of Pass Christian, and James A. Necase, District 4 of Picayune.

Gerald Favre, unsuccessful in the last race for District 5 Constable, will try again. Incumbent Herman Mazarakis also is running.

Two men, C. W. (Jack) Brunson, incumbent, and Clifton M. Seal, both of Picayune, have filed as candidates for District 2 J.P.

Harold Elester Cospelich of Kiln is in the District 4 J.P. race.

City Commission Studies Natural Gas Line Repairs

Repair of natural gas pipelines was discussed Tuesday at a meeting of the City Commission with representatives of Southern Cross Foresters, Atlanta, Ga., natural gas consultants specializing in leak survey and repair.

Commissioner J. Cyril Glover said the same company completed $40,000 worth of repair work to the pipelines in 1953 and 1954. Measurement of trouble areas in the 20-year-old system has begun, Glover added, although no contract agreement with the Atlanta firm has been reached.

Remodeling of natural gas offices on the first floor of City Hall should be complete within 60 days, Glover added, since signing of a contract Tuesday with L. A. Eastman Co. of Gulfport, low bidder for the job.

SAFETY IS KEYNOTE—Freeman L. Evans, right, executive director of the Mississippi Safety Council, emphasizes an aspect of the traffic problem on U. S. 90 to the Rev. Charles R. Johnson, chairman of the recently formed Bay St. Louis Safety Committee. The group, initiated by the Rotary Club, has as its first project the reduction of the accident toll on U. S. 90 in Hancock County.

A Hancock County Need

Two news items on today's front page are of economic importance to Hancock County. They are important because they indicate growth even if small. We refer to the construction of a pumping station by Tennessee Gas Transmission Corporation and to the opening Tuesday of Bankston Motor Company. Elsewhere on this page is a reprint of an editorial from the Pascagoula Chronicle-Star and Moss Point Advertiser that discusses the small industries of that area. These businesses are important to an area that also has large industries. To Hancock County similar small industries would loom even larger in importance.

Puzzled Again

Basically the Echo is opposed to the fee system of paying public officials, particularly when the fees are paid to law enforcement officers and judges as the result of a conviction. The Echo's opinion will not change the law of Mississippi or of Hancock County, notwithstanding some peculiar aspects of the local fee system.

For instance the sheriff gets no fees for making an arrest. Primarily his remuneration and the expenses of his office come from fees resulting from his other office, tax collector. His deputies may get a fee and mileage for making an arrest outside of Bay St. Louis, unless the person arrested is charged with a serious crime and is held for the grand jury. If the crime is petty larceny, perhaps a fee; if it's murder, no fee. The greater the danger, the less the pay. The Echo is puzzled.

Help The Editor Out

Today the Echo is printing two letters to the editor. It is pleased to do so since both letters are complimentary to the paper, but complimentary or critical the Echo welcomes letters to the editor.

To repeat an earlier editorial, the Echo will gladly print letters from its readers. The subject matter of these letters must be in the opinion of the editor of interest to other readers, must be signed but on request the name will not be printed, usually must not be over 250 words and must be in good taste.

County Agent Notes

By HOWARD SIMMONS

SPRAYING PASTURES

One of the best jobs you can do on permanent pastures in Hancock County is to spray them for weed control. This is a job on which you don't have to wait. On pastures where crimson clover or vetch are not growing, you can begin spraying now for bitter weed control. On pastures where these clovers and legumes are growing, wait until they are mature before spraying.

One pound of amine 2,4-D in 10 to 20 gallons of water per acre, sprayed solid over the pasture will help control bitter weeds, goat weeds and many other weeds that come up in the spring. You can safely spray with amine 2,4-D until cotton comes up. Two of the hardest weeds to kill are cypress and mayweed. For mayweed it will take a pound and a half of 2,4-D-T sprayed in April or May.

For cypress weed you will need two and a half pounds of 2,4-D sprayed in May or June, or as soon as the plants come up and begin growing well.

HOME GARDENING

This is big planting month in your home garden and this area is excellent for them. You can make a garden mean a lot or a little to you, - it just depends on what you plant, when you plant and how you plant.

County Paces District In Savings Bond Sales

Hancock County led District 8 in U. S. Savings Bond purchases for the first two months of 1959 with subscriptions totaling 38,377 per cent of its quota for the year. Postmaster Andy J. Becker, chairman of the county savings bonds committee, has disclosed. It also ranks sixth in Mississippi. In January and February, residents purchased $26,862 in Series E and H bonds toward a goal for 1959 of $70,000.

Besides outdistancing the other 10 counties in the Gulf Coast district by a wide margin, Hancock and neighboring Pearl River County were among the 19 in the state to make the Savings Bond honor roll by reaching 25 per cent or more of their goal for the year, Pearl River, with J. M. Morse III as chairman, racked up sales of $42,194 for 25.72 of its quota.

Figures on the sales were furnished by the Federal Reserve Bank. They show that for the district, sales of $846,553 amount to $21.25 per cent of the overall $3,982,000 goal.

A rundown of other counties in District 8 shows Harrison at 23.67 per cent; Jackson at 21.64; Forrest, 15.03; Covington, 14.59; Stone, 12.10; George, 11.84; Perry, 0.12; Greene, 8.71, and Lamar, 5.63.

The 1959 goal for Mississippi is $23 million. Sales during January and February totaled $4,314,534.95 or 18.76 per cent of the sale goal.

Urging continued purchase of government bonds, Becker observed that "a part of every American's savings should be invested in savings bonds, to provide for his future and add strength to the national economy."

Bible Comment:

New Testament Bolsters Faith In Immortality

"If a man die, shall he live again?" That ages-old question was asked by Job, and successive generations of men have asked it, and it has been answered in various ways, and with varying convictions.

The strongest ground of hope and faith in immortality is found in the New Testament, with its message of, and concerning, Christ.

The message concerning Christ is as much the ground of that faith as the message of Christ Himself, for the one is intensive-ly associated with the other.

The Resurrection is the evidence of the deathless life of Jesus Himself. It became to the disciples, as it should to us, the clearest evidence of the immortality that He promised, "Because I live, ye shall live also."

Consider: a group of disciples, in the depth of gloom and despair because of the death of a Master upon whom they had set their faith, were suddenly aroused to new life and hope and vision by the conviction that their Lord was living, and that they had seen Him, and received His message.

In that vision, faith and conviction they not only went forth to the spiritual conquest of the world, but they went forth with their characters and outlooks transformed, too.

There was no more bickering about who should be greater. They had found the eternal life of which Jesus spoke.

For eternal life is a present possession. We should think of immortality, not in terms of mere continuance, but in terms of the quality of life.

That is a good thought to ponder, during Lent.

Views From Other Newspapers

SMALL INDUSTRY DUE FOR APPLAUSE

Paspoint's "small" industries are playing an increasingly important role in the growing economy of our area.

Last week the Chronicle carried a news story on a crab processing plant at Bayou Casotte which is employing about 100 people and expects to increase this figure by summer.

This plant is only one of several and together they furnish jobs for many of our workers.

There are, to name a few, Hults Seafood Co., Bayou Casotte and Moss Point; Pascagoula Crab Co., Pelham's Seafood Co., the several companies handling scrap fish both for processing and shipment to milk farms as food, and others including the seasonal shrimp operation.

Dependent on these businesses is operation of a large fleet of small boats based in this area. Income earned by owners and operators is spent in the Paspoint area.

Collective employment probably numbers more than 1000 people whose wages also go for the most part into Paspoint trade channels.

Successful operation of these plants is one more proof that utilization of an area's God-given resources pays off in solid economic progress.

While angling for - and well-coming - big industry to our county, we shouldn't lose sight of the fact that these small industries mean much to us.

Their loss would be an economic blow hard to overcome. - Pascagoula CHRONICLE STAR and Moss Point ADVERTISER.

A number of states require a balanced state budget either by Constitutional edict or by statute. It is obligatory to live within the state's income and there is no spending for the sake of spending. To much that on the federal level, Congress would have to provide new revenues every time it passed a law requiring spending that would unbalance the budget. That would make for real economy, or for higher taxes, which would give the electorate a clear choice in the following election. - Laurel, Miss., LEADER-CALL.

Strange that none of our warped politicians, (we have 2369 in Mississippi) has raised a howl over Clement Attlee being invited to speak at Ole Miss. Don't they know the man is a dreadful socialist? - Pascagoula CHRONICLE STAR and Moss Point ADVERTISER.

Bay Business is Up 13 Per Cent

A 13 per cent increase in business activity in Bay St. Louis during January over the same period for 1958 is reported by the Mississippi Business Review. The Gulfport-Biloxi district shows a general increase of 12 per cent - ranging from 14 per cent at Biloxi to one per cent at Pass Christian. Gulfport was up 12 per cent and Pacyune four per cent.

The district as a whole stood at 269 per cent of the 1947-49 average recorded on the Business Research Station's index. By the same standard Biloxi showed 281 per cent; Gulfport, 269 per cent; Bay St. Louis, 255 per cent; Pass Christian, 180 per cent; and Pacyune, 235 per cent.

O'Mara of Biloxi at a flower arrangement workshop Tuesday in City-County Memorial Library under auspices of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club. Techniques for arrangement of crescent oval, Hogarth curve and Japanese triangle bouquets were described. Each type was attempted by each of the women present.

LOOK MAMA—As the Easter season approaches, selection of a new spring bonnet becomes one of the most important things to women of all ages as tiny Leigh Anne Russo, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Russo, displays as she goes shopping this week with her mother in a downtown store. Leigh Anne seems especially pleased with the ribbons which are used to keep junior-sized hats tied on to over-active toddlers.

Do You Know What Your Home is Worth Today?

Surprisingly enough, NINE OUT OF TEN PEOPLE DON'T! That's the startling result of a survey recently conducted by a New York research firm.

Of course, there are good reasons for this. Inflation and rising building costs affect home valuation.

I'll bet you your home is worth MORE right now than you think.

And I'll bet you haven't taken this into account in planning your insurance. If I'm right, you stand to lose a lot RIGHT NOW if you have a serious fire, windstorm, or any other loss.

May I tell you WHAT YOUR HOME IS WORTH TODAY?

Health Department Plans Pre-School Vaccinations

Mothers of pre-school aged children are encouraged to bring their youngsters to the Health Department for smallpox vaccinations before hot weather begins, said Dr. J. T. Maddux, director.

Dr. Maddux explained that the shots will not be given next fall at the schools, as in the past, and should be received before school begins.

Since children wear light clothing, usually without sleeves, during the summer, the vaccinated area of the arm is exposed. The children tend to scratch it, he said, and the vaccination fluid is smeared onto their own and other children's arms he said. When they wear long sleeves the material absorbs any fluid released by scratching, although there usually is less scratching when sleeves are worn, he added.

Administration of the shots at the health department will allow the staff to spend more time in the office, since administration at schools, in the past, kept a nurse out of the office three mornings for each school. Also, vaccination at the office will allow doctor to talk to parents about any other medical problems of the children.

A pre-school roundup of children for physical examinations probably will be in July or August, Dr. Maddux reports. Previously only first graders in the 35 Hancock and Pearl River County schools serviced by the department were examined.

Eventually Dr. Maddux said he hopes to be able to check all children before they enter school, in the sixth grade and in the 11th grade, since these are the recommended ages for examinations.

This year's first grade check-ups are nearing completion, with four schools, Valens C. Jones, Waveland, Christ Episcopal and St. Rose de Lima still to be serviced in Hancock County and in Pearl River County. The present system, under the supervision of the health department, is a more thorough investigation of a particular problem.

Youngsters other than first graders are examined if the teacher so requests.

Loan Plan Boosts Poultry Business For Housewives

Rural housewives who want to make enough extra money to pay at home with their children and husbands who want to develop a profit-making business of their own, both are benefiting from the growth of poultry raising in Hancock County, County Agent Howard Simmons says.

Under a loan plan operated by Coastal Cooperative of Gulfport, five families have purchased a total of 17,000 chicks. Two more families have chicken houses now under construction. Simmons explained that a family can expect a profit of about $3,000 per year from 7,000 birds. Poultry raising is especially suited to the owners of smaller farms of 100 acres or less, which describes close to 575 of the 711 farms in Hancock County, the agent added.

Mrs. Ivy Ladner of Bayou LaCroix Road, Kiln, is typical of the county's poultry raisers. In that she hopes eventually to leave her away-from-home job and spend all her time with her family, living on the profit of eggs from the 3,000 Babcock Bessies she has purchased through the Cooperative Service.

Coastal Cooperative loans Mrs. Ladner and the other poultry raisers $2 per bird purchased. Each week she pays 85 per cent of her egg profit back to the cooperative until the loan has been repaid. Usually this takes about six months, said Dwight Mason, field service man for the Cooperative.

Feed and vaccinations for the birds are taken from the loan money until the loan is repaid. Mason added, her 9,000 square foot house provides three square feet for each bird, the recommended amount of space, Mason said.

building a 30 by 100 foot house for 1,000 starter pullets, four to five months old, which he will purchase through the Cooperative when the house is finished. With space for addition to the house, he hopes eventually to house 6,000 pavers.

Eggs from the loan-purchased bird are taken to a Cooperative warehouse at Hattiesburg where they are graded under the inspection of a U. S. Department of Agriculture representative. They are returned for sale in the county of the raiser. Since the eggs are produced in the area where they are used, the business also provides impetus to the county's economy. Ideal spot for construction of a chicken house is in a shaded area which will prevent sun heat from killing the birds. Temperature usually is kept at about 66 degrees for chickens, which have a normal body temperature of 107 degrees. Good drainage also is important, Simmons said.

Municipalities to Study Candidates

The Mississippi Municipal Association's legislative platform as released to candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and the state legislature will be discussed at a series of six district meetings beginning March 25, according to Ward M. Hurt, mayor of Lumberton and association president, has announced.

Municipal officials from this area are to attend the dinner session in Gulfport April 2.

BREAKFAST

Did you eat a good breakfast this morning? Hope you say "yes". For we don't want you to be a "breakfast skipper". They are the people who get themselves of alertness and efficiency during the late morning hours. They are the people who are wrong when they think doing without breakfast is a practical way to lose weight. Start the day right. Take time to eat a good breakfast and encourage other members of your family to do so, too. Did you know one out of five children in this nation go to school without a good breakfast. That is what a nationwide survey showed.

LIGHTING TROUBLES

Is your home now? Then likely you have a lighting fixture using fluorescent tubes, possibly in the kitchen and utility room and as balance lighting in the living.

Enters Army

Robert Lucky Young of Logtown was sent March 11 to the Armed Forces Induction Center at Jackson for induction into the Army, according to Mrs. Agnes Young, clerk of Selective Service Board 24 in Bay St. Louis.

room. You were delighted with fluorescent lighting until the tubes started flickering, blinking or other trouble symptoms appeared. That's what they are - trouble symptoms. There are causes and you will be glad to know there are cures. If the flickering is pronounced and irregular in a new tube, it should clear up after the tube is operated for a few times. In a tube that has been used the starter might not be performing properly and will need to be replaced. Flickering may suddenly develop in any tube and should clear up if turned off for a few seconds. If a tube continues to flicker, replace it but check further if the new tube flickers. There are other possible causes that require the services of an electrician.

FLOWERS FOR COLOR

Have you been thinking how you'd like those you saw in the flowers in your yard this year? Maybe like those you saw in the seed catalogue or a magazine or on the seed packages at the store. It's time to begin to turn this desire into reality. You can plant a number of hardy annuals now. They include cosmos, marigold, phlox, single penunia, salvia, zinnia, morning glory, snapdragon and calliopsis. Try a color scheme of annuals to make a showy display in your front yard. Plant others for cut flowers in the vegetable garden. Make the flower bed at least two feet from the outermost spread of shrub branches. Remember, flower beds of annuals are best placed in front of shrubby borders. You will find annuals very useful in your home is new and you've not had a chance to get your shrubs set out and growing.

Improve Existing Pastures as Aid To Conservation

Improvement of existing pastures is one of several practices of the 1959 agricultural conservation program to help small landowners in Hancock County accomplish good, practical conservation on their farmland.

Chairman Fitzhugh Lee of the Hancock ASC Committee reports.

In considering pasture needs for 1959, Lee suggests that special consideration be given to the land already in pasture. Most farms have enough land already in pasture to produce the feed needed for the livestock now on the farm if the pasture is improved. However, the present condition of many pastures is such that very little, if any, income is derived from them. Not only would improvement measures provide additional grazing and hay for livestock, but greater protection from soil erosion as well.

Some pastures need only renovation, some fertilizer and lime, some seed, while others need all of the improvement measures mentioned in order to obtain maximum results. Now is an ideal time to renovate existing pastures with a disk or specially designed equipment and apply improvement measures. If seed, lime, or fertilizer is needed, cost-sharing assistance is available through the Agricultural Conservation Program. Under the pasture improvement practice for 1959, the Government, through the Agricultural Conservation Program, will pay approximately two-thirds of the total cost of the needed improvement measures.

Lee noted only those pastures needing improvement measures to extend the life of the present cover are eligible for ACP cost-sharing. A request for cost-sharing must be filed in the ASC county office before the practice is started, if cost-sharing is desired.

First place winners in all groups will be eligible to enter the district talent contest at Hattiesburg in April.

School Board

Trustee Alton Kellar finally moved for election of the North Central faculty which was approved unanimously. He noted that with more time to think out the housing matter, it was conceivable something could be worked out that would be agreeable to all concerned.

It was indicated that buildings from Sellers and Kiln Schools can be used for teachers' homes later on and Powell observed that it is perfectly likely the board will end up having to build a residence there, Breland added that some thought might be given to finding janitors a place to live also.

J. C. Harrell, currently principal at Sellers who has been with the county school system for seven years, was named principal of the high school division at North Central.

James Johnson, who took over last fall as coach at Kiln, was elected as assistant football and boys' basketball coach with Billie Boy Gray, hired at mid-term last year as athletic coach at Sellers, named junior high and girls' basketball coach, and Truman Schultz, football coach.

Other appointments included Mrs. Dorothy Spence, home economics; Bernard P. McCormick, English; Mrs. Helen Barnes, English and Librarian; D. J. Martin and Davis Barnes, both vocational agriculture; Mrs. Rebekah Kennedy, Mrs. J. C. Harrell, Carl Moran, Miss Myrdestia Martin, Mrs. Cecil Ladner, Mrs. Saul Niolet, Oren L. Seal, Mrs. Marjorie Cuevas, Mrs. Cornelius Favre, Mrs. Vernelle Deer, Culbert Lee, Don Thigpen, Mrs. Myrtle Saucier, Mrs. Carl Moran, Mrs. Sammie S. Webb and Elvin Lee.

Electing for the Gulfview School were Rupert Breland, Mrs. Joe Howze and Mrs. Ann Martin. They had been recommended by Paul Lamphere, new principal there, and trustees for the Lakeshore School.

Trustee Powell balked at the idea of contributing up to $99 toward the new basketball scoreboard at Gulfview School which the Parents Club had purchased early this year for use at its tournament.

The club had inquired if the board would help out with their $400 outlay for which they raised $200 in the tourney. It was observed that because the board did not have sufficient notice in the first place to advertise for bids on the equipment, it had not taken any part and was prevented from expending over $100 on it. The club said it would raise the money through other projects if the board couldn't help.

Powell took the view that to contribute any money would be setting a precedent and invite other parent groups to buy expensive equipment and ask for help later. He asked the board to defer action to give him time to think over the proposition.

Displaying Old Trophies Is School Board Problem

What do you do with old athletic trophies? In the case of schools, it's quite a headache the Hancock County School Board discovered when it met last Friday and tried to figure out a way to handle the many years' accumulation from the Kiln, Sellers, Dedeaux and Lestown Schools when they are consolidated next fall in the new North Central building.

One trophy case was provided for in the original building plans, Principal R. A. Webb noted, explaining that the collection from the four buildings over the years would overflow a single cabinet.

The best estimate Webb had been able to get on sliding glass door cabinets was $100 which both he and the board felt was too steep.

Maybe just show the current year's trophies and lock up the rest, the board wondered, or the current ones could be kept in the lobby case and less elaborate facilities provided for keeping the rest in the gymnasium.

Finally the board concurred with Superintendent E. E. Breland's suggestion to wait a while and try to figure out something acceptable to athletes of former years as well as the current set.

Simmons Speaks County Agent Howard Simmons spoke Friday before Pica-yune Rotary Club on the subject of Conservation. Simmons outlined the way in which conservation has contributed to the growth of civilization throughout the history of agrarian man.

Niolet Wins Walker Trophy In Golf Meet

Two Bay St. Louis men, Dick Merritt and Howard Cox, tied for runner-up honors in the Walker Trophy tournament at Pass Christian Isles Golf Club last weekend.

Both posted nets of 72. Since time did not permit a sudden death play off, a toss of the coin was used to determine who got the prize and Cox was winner.

The handsome championship trophy, donated to the club several years ago by Wallace C. Walker and his brother, went to E. V. Niolet of Gulfport with a net 66 in the 18-hole handicap competition.

A field of 43 men and women competed. J. W. Waggoner was defending champion and Miss Catherine Purchner won the previous year.

Trophies were awarded at a cocktail party Sunday afternoon.
